Trailer Tire Blew Out Ring Crashed Thru Window

An unusual accident occurred at Florin last evening and fortunately no one was injured.

One of the Schock Independent Oil Company's large oil trucks drawing a trailer was passing the residence of Mrs. John D. Easton.

Immediately in front of the house one of the large tires on the trailer blew out. These tires are held in position by two steel rings. One ring was blown into the Easton yard and the other was thrown across the yard and thru a large front window, completely demolishing the frame.

Fortunately no one was in the path of either of these rings at the time.

These tires usually carry about 120 lbs pressure.
