

Figure 4 (left). An early cabbage slaw cutter (length, 18 inches) with arched top and early forged wing nut. The cutter has Imprint f at top of board and Imprint e on face at the hanging hole (Donald Stark Collection).

Figure 5 (above). Three examples of Stamm's kitchenware. In the foreground is a large cabbage cutter (length, 30 inches) with dovetailed sliding box (Imprint e). Center is a small onion slicer (Imprint d, length, 11 inches). At right is a typical slaw cutter (Imprint e), length, 18 inches).

Figure 6 (below). Advertisements from The Church Advocate for both Stamm's cabbage cutters and for his vegetable bitters.

THE CHURCH ADVOCATE. LANCASTER, PA., JULY 23, 1873.

5000 AGENTS WANTED.—Samples sent free by mail, with terms to clear from $5 to $10 per day. Two entirely new articles, salable as flour. Address, N. H. WHITE, Newark, N. J. 11-4t.

J. STAMM,

MANUFACTURER OF

SLAW CUTTERS

AND

THE KEYSTONE WASHBOARD,

Mount Joy, Lancaster Co., Pa.

44-11

Elder J. Stamm's Bitters.

THIS invaluable Bitters is prepared for the purpose of diffusing its benefit to suffering humanity. The greatest medicine of its class is

STAMM'S CELEBRATED VEGETABLE BITTERS.

The proprietor was himself effectually cured of dyspepsia. Have you dyspepsia? If you desire a perfect cure, take a few bottles of Stamm's Bitters, and the cure is complete. Are you weak and debilitated? Are your liver, kidneys or stomach disordered? Use freely of Stamm's Bitters, and get well. This medicine has proved a superior remedy in the cure of Fever and Ague, as certificates from scores of persons of the highest respectability will show, and testify of its virtues, and cure of dyspepsia. Address ELDER J. STAMM, Mt. Joy, Lancaster county, Pa. Sold wholesale and retail.

These bitters have been recommended by the following ministers: Elders J. Winebrenner, J. Boop, J. Brady, E. H. Thomas, J. Mackey, J. M. Hepler, Geo. Sandoe, A. B. McCurdy, A. H. Long, A. Snyder, J. Keller, J. C. Owens, S. Crawford, Wm. Clay, E. Baer, J. F. Weishampel, A. Holmes, Wm. McFadden, J. Hickernell. (32-17.)